Once you do something, you never forget.

even if you don't remember